Vancouver, British Columbia and Toronto, Ontario--(Newsfile Corp. - August 27, 2025) - Data Watts Partners Inc. (CSE: DWTZ) ("Data Watts" or the "Company"), a publicly listed investment issuer focused on the Data Watts Economy, today announced a strategic partnership with Trusted Financial, a leading Canadian investment banking and corporate finance firm. This collaboration will provide Data Watts with enhanced access to institutional capital and sophisticated financing solutions to accelerate its investment strategy across uranium exploration, Small Modular Reactor (SMR) commercialization, AI expansion, data centers and robotics automation.

The partnership leverages Trusted Financial's extensive network of private investors, institutional investors, and family offices, along with their proven track record of facilitating over $500 million in financing for small to lower middle market businesses over the past 24 months.

"This partnership with Trusted Financial represents a pivotal moment for Data Watts as we scale our investments in the Data Watts Economy, and plan for a Nasdaq public offering in the second quarter of 2026," said Ron Loborec, CEO of Data Watts Partners. "Their deep expertise in corporate finance and extensive investor network will accelerate our ability to capitalize on the unprecedented opportunities in uranium, nuclear energy, AI infrastructure, data centers and robotics that are driving the next wave of global economic growth."

The partnership comes at a critical inflection point as global markets experience explosive growth across Data Watts' core investment sectors:

- Uranium Market: $180B projected by 2030 driven by the global nuclear renaissance
- Nuclear Energy: $42B market by 2032 with small modular reactors leading the space
- AI Applications: $826B market by 2030 creating unprecedented demand for data centers
- Robotics Market: $179B by 2030 driven by labor constraints and technological advances
- Data Centers: $6.7T by 2030 driven by consumer demand for AI

"Data Watts has positioned itself at the forefront of transformative global trends that represent multi-trillion-dollar market opportunities," said Dan Posner, CEO of Trusted Financial. "Our role is to provide them with the capital structure and strategic advisory services needed to maximize their investment potential. With our combined expertise in corporate finance and their deep understanding of the Data Watts Economy, this partnership creates significant value for investors seeking exposure to these high-growth sectors."
